

Bio Daniel Wright

I was raised in a Christian family, oldest of 3 boys and attended Christian Outreach College from grades 2 to 12. After leaving school I pursued a labour intensive career across the construction, glazing and transport industries. After losing my job in 2001 due to a lack of work in construction (4 weeks prior to marrying my wife of 14 years, Kylie), I was offered a job at Bretts Hardware which introduced me to retail sales and commercial quoting and supply of architectural fitout. After 3 years in this environment I made a move which can be construed as backwards out to be a delivery driver for Bretts, which presented an opportunity for more overtime. With 4 children to provide for and one on the way the decision was made to go to University and study accounting. Quite a daunting proposal as I did not excel in my studies at school, however a back to basics approach which consisted of listening in class, reading the textbook, doing the homework and asking questions netted me Dux in my first year of study.

Through some divine intervention I happened to be at the uni on the careers day and discovered the process for getting a job in the accounting industry. This led to a 4 year stint at BDO in Brisbane working in the Motor Dealer Specialisation. While at BDO we received news that our 7th and final child was to be born in 2010. In 2012 I moved from public practice to the commercial environment and started at Motorama at Mitsubishi Springwood. 2 years later I was asked to move to the newly developed Hillcrest site to manage the accounts team and the finances for the 4 franchise site, which is my current role.

After leaving school I discovered a very personal relationship with Jesus however the lure of the world distracted me from my walk with Christ and I became entangled with the worries of the world and was more concerned with what man thought than what God thought. God has always had his hand on me and I'm very thankful for the faithfulness of God who didn't forsake me despite my self-centred living. Not being ignorant of the Word I always kept my eyes and ears on the signs of the time and it wasn't until the FGBMFI Ignite conference in August 2016 that Daniel got the fire back in his belly.

Not happy to be a pew warmer I need to get busy with the Lords work saving souls, laying hands on the sick, setting people free, learning my place and authority so I can be a contributing member of this latter day army that will have victory over the enemy. It is time to seek His Face and know Him intimately.
